Forecast Supporting Videos

With a Forecast subscription, you can now get exclusive access to insights in the form of

- Forecasters' update providing short video commentary when there is change in forecast trend and hedging recommendation
- Macro update providing monthly outlook for global PMI, GDP growth levels with latest developments seen in key macroeconomic indicators. This helps you stay abreast of macro-economic trends that may influence market conditions.
- Forecast webinars presented by our Forecast Analysts to provide detailed insights into current and future price developments of individual commodities. These sessions offer valuable context and analysis directly from experts.

Additionally, you can access Forecast Tutorials. These are in-depth videos that provides introduction to forecast methodology and analysis, including hedging & trend. These tutorials are particularly beneficial for newcomers to the Forecast module, serving as training materials to build proficiency.

All the video content follows a similar format to provide the consistency.

Key features:

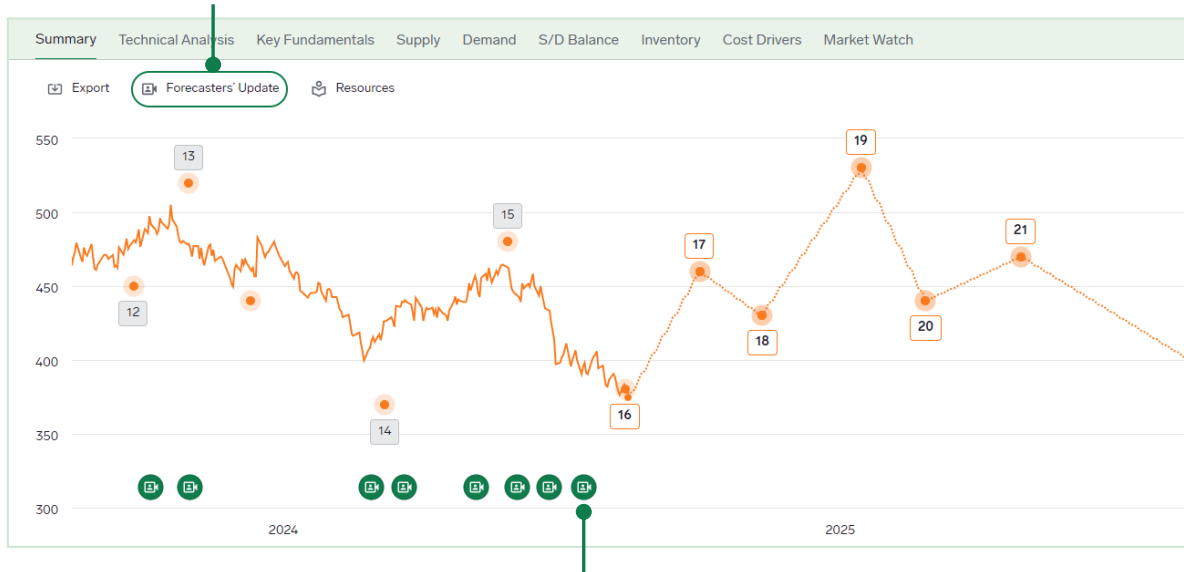

1. Forecasters' update

The Forecasters' update (formally known as Weekly Digest in legacy product) provides a round-up of the hedging recommendation and forecast trend changes from the previous week with details to why it has changed with the evidence.

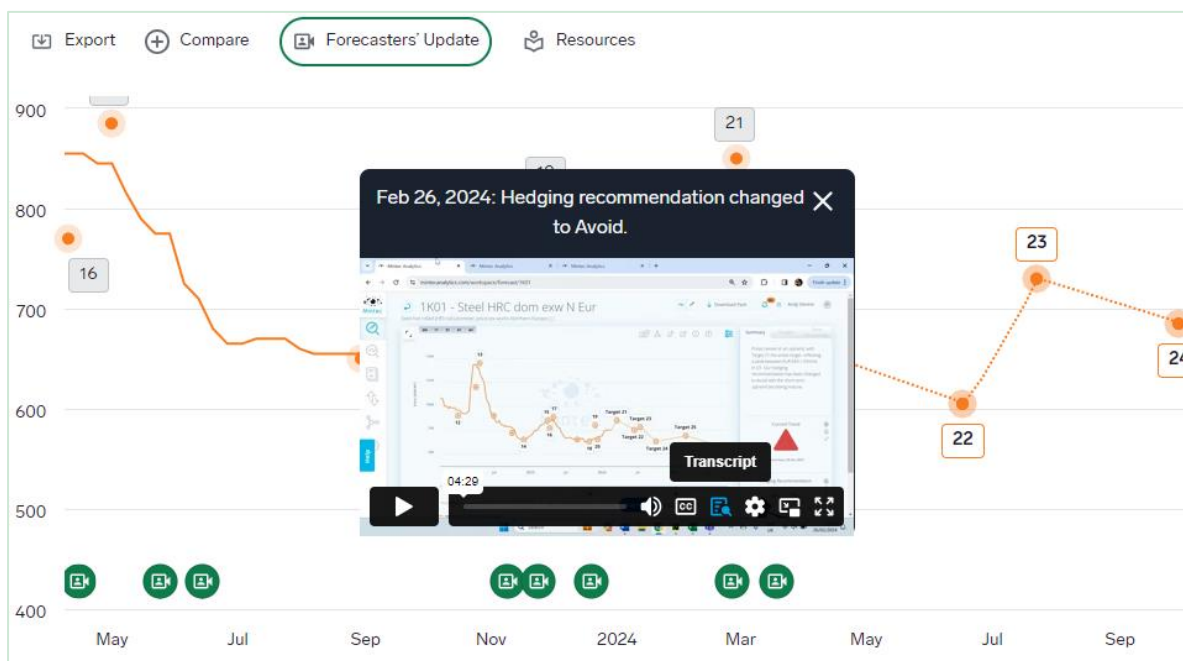

The video commentary is designed to be listened to in the context of the forecast chart. This means that while you're viewing the chart, the commentary will provide relevant insights directly related to the data you're analyzing.

There's a convenient automatic "bookmark" feature that tracks your progress as you watch the video. If you need to pause or exit, the bookmark allows you to resume the video later from where you left off, ensuring a seamless experience.

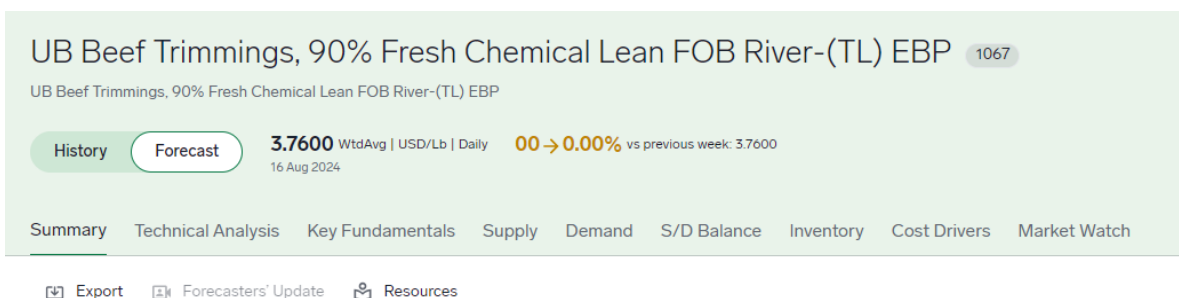

The forecasters' update commentary can be accessed directly from the forecast chart interface by clicking on "Forecasters' update" icon. Clicking on this icon will reveal a number of video icons below the chart. These icons indicate the availability of video commentary for change in hedging strategies or forecast trends. To listen to the commentary, select the specific video icon that corresponds to the topic you're interested in.

When you hover over each video icon, a tooltip will appear. This tooltip provides information about the subject of the commentary, helping you quickly understand what each video covers.

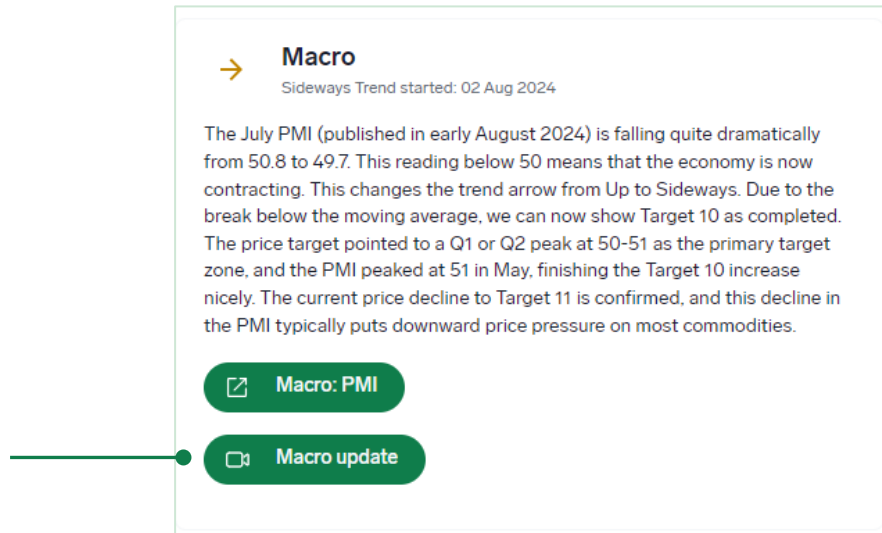

For any price forecasts where Forecasters' update is not available, the icon on the forecast chart will be greyed out.

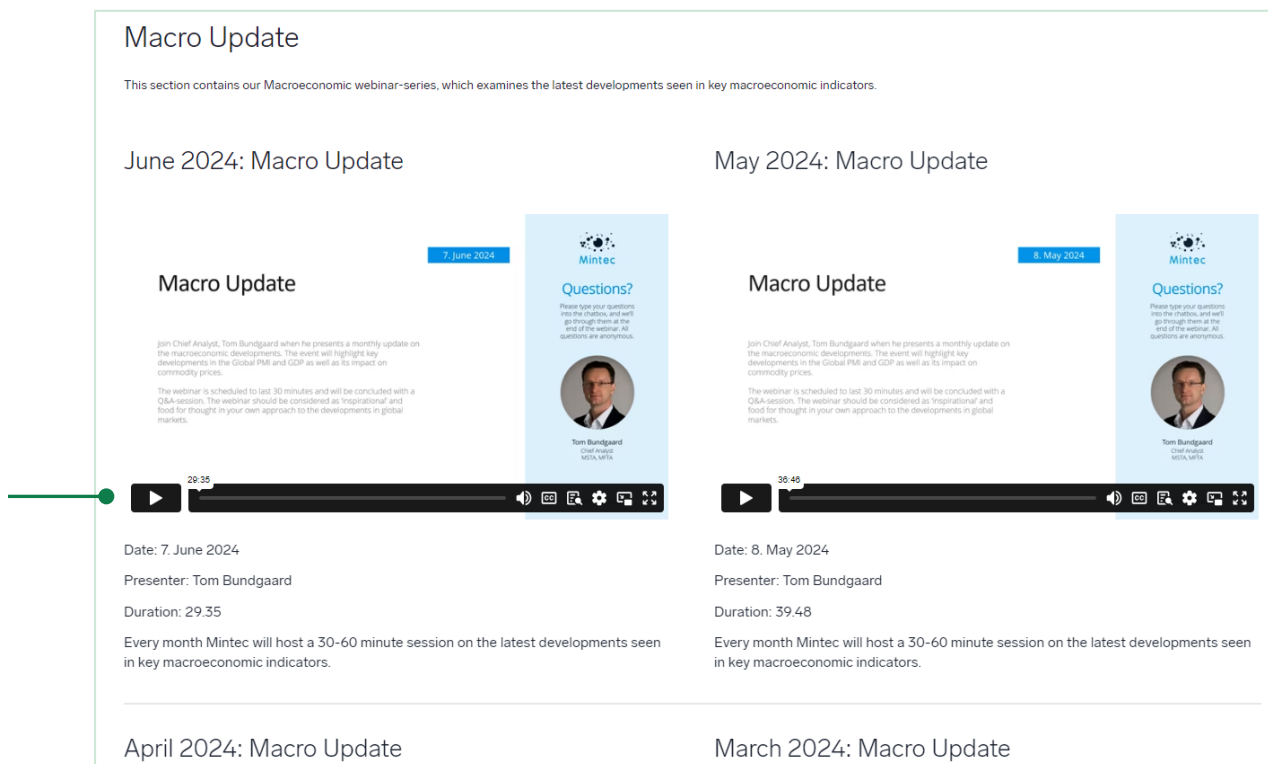

2. Macro Updates

These are the monthly macro update videos, created by our forecast analysts, which provides latest developments seen in key macroeconomic indicators.

The Macro update page can be accessible from the Macro section of Forecast Summary page.

Macro update page will show list of the all the Macro update videos published so far. It also offers a chapter short-cut link for each commodity so you can listen to the parts you're interested in.

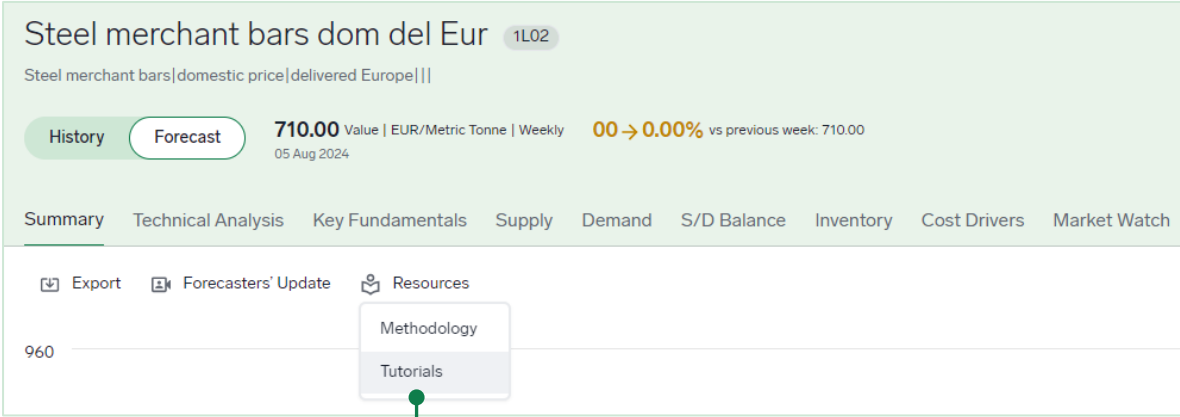

3. Tutorials

The Tutorials page contains different levels of content to help you understand Forecasts and how they are put together.

- Essentials – introductory sessions to the forecast and analysis solution.
- Fundamentals – advanced sessions focusing on topics of key fundamentals analysis
- Technicals – advanced sessions focusing on topics of technical analysis.
- Other – advanced sessions focusing on topics of macro analysis and commodity risk management.

The tutorials page can help provide training on interpreting price forecasting and hedging along with tutorials on how to use the Forecast feature.
